COLOMBIA WANTS MORE MONEY

MAIN REASON FOR OPPOSITION TO CANAL TREATY.

The Bonus of $10,000,000 to Be Paid by the United States Would Furnish Little Relief, and Opponents of the Treaty Demand as Much as $25,000,000.

WASHINGTON, May 13 .- A condition of affairs prevails in Colombia which furnishes some inkling of the main reason for opposition to the Panama Canal treaty. Advices from a thoroughly trustworthy source received by the United States Government show that Colombia is financially ruined and that the $10,000,000 to be paid by the United States if the canal treaty is ratified would furnish only a small measure of relief. The prevailing situation is believed to be partly responsible for the demand of the opponents of the treaty that the bonus to Colombia be increased. Some of the opponents want as much as $25,000,000, or two and one-half times as much as the United States Congress agreed to give.

The advices referred to say that on March 1 last the Colombian Government gave notice that it had stopped the issue of paper money that was flooding the country and had turned over the lithograph plates from which it was made to a committee composed of prominent members of different political parties.

Consequently, the Government was, early in April, almost entirely without funds; it had not enough to pay running expenses, to say nothing of foreign claims and demands. Not a cent of interest had been paid on the national debt since the war began in 1899.

The claims growing out of the recent revolution were assuming tremendous proportions, and as there was no other means of relief it was apparent that the Govern-ment must again have recourse to the lithograph stones and start the presses. Moreover, it was the general opinion that even the small measure of relief which might follow the receipt of the $10,000,000 from the United States on account of the Panama Canal could not be obtained, for it was not expected that Congress would ratify the treaty. At one time last year exchange on treaty. At one time last year exchange on New York was 22,000; that is to say, 22,000 Colombian dollars were required to pur-chase one dollar's worth of goods in the United States.

It was feared that the rate would be even higher this summer, for there was over one billion dollars' worth of this money a float, and it was expected that five hundred million more would be issued immediately to pay war expenses.

The foreign debt in 1896 amounted to £2,700,000, on which the interest rate was first 2½, then 3 per cent., but this interest has not been paid for several years. terest has not been paid for several years. It was the general opinion, according to the correspondent, that the Government could never pay its debts, and general apprehension was expressed as to what might happen in case the foreign creditors pushed for a final settlement of their claims.

Altogether the conditions in Colombia at the beginning of April were compared to those existing in France in 1796.

CHICKEN BLACKMAIL.

Collector Says He Paid It to a Mulberry Street Wardman.

Giuseppe di Luise kept chickens in his cellar in Marion street without a permit. He says that Joseph di Diego, a Stanton street tailor, got $13 to $15 a month from him for eleven months ending in November, 1902, for police blackmail, on the pretext of paying it to Wardman Gallagher of the Mulberry street station then under Capt.

Di Diego was convicted in the General Sessions yesterday of extortion. His story was that di Luise came to him with a complaint that the police were bothering and asked him to fix it. Di Diego consented to oblige, went with di Luise to the Mulberry street station house and asked the desk sergeant for the wardman. The sergeant told him to go outside and the wardman would see him. Gallagher came out, said di Diego and arranged a meeting at Spring di Diego, and arranged a meeting at Spring street and the Bowery for 6 o'clock that night. Di Diego went there, met Galla-gher and gave him the money. Upon one other occasion he had paid Gallagher, at di Luise's request, but he denied taking the remaining nine payments. The jury recommended mercy on the theory that he was not the principal offender.

NEW REGIME IN BICYCLING.

COL. POPE TAKES REINS OF HIS COMPANY TO-DAY.

The "Trust" Is Now a Thing of History, and the Original Leader Talks "From the Saddle" of His Plans-Advertising His Cardinal Principle-Other Views.

To-day the "Bicycle Trust," as the American Bicycle Company has been known, becomes truly defunct so far as its having any further influence in the bicycle business is concerned, and a new régime is begun by the recently organized Pope Manufacturing Company, which, with its capital just increased to $22,500,000, holds all the working assets of the A. B. C., and will henceforth run the business. The Pope Manufacturing Company bought out the American Bicycle Company for $3,500,000, the sale being made by the receivers on the approval of the court, and all that remains of the trust is some odds and ends of realty and stock affairs in the hands of the receivers. The Pope Manufacturing Company bought from the parent concern the American Cycle Manufacturing Company, the International Motor Car Company and the Federal Manufacturing Company, the last being the parts-making branch. With these in hand and everything ready the Pope Manufacturing Compliny starts on its new career to-day with Col. Albert A. Pope at its head.

With the mounting of Col. Pope to the saddle all the conservative policy of the last four years was abandoned. Once more as the head of the greatest bicycle making business in the country, the founder of the industry became the frank and enthusiastic leader that he was of old. He sent for the newspaper men to tell them the news. His spirits were exuberant and he talked with characteristic earnestness. He said his policy would be the opposite of that pursued by the trust.

"Starting now, at a time of year when bicycle manufacturers usually owe a lot of money, we are free from debt, "he said, "have plenty of capital and a determination to re-Bieveling has run down? Of course it has, when those in charge did everything they could to kill it. They made the cheapest and trashiest sort of wheels and would not advertise and had to sell without profit. "We will do business on business princi-ples, and you can be sure there are not going to be any more bicycles made at a loss. If we did that we would not have any money with which to advertise, and I never shall be entirely happy until I am once more the biggest advertiser in America. If you have a good thing you have got to let the people know it and keep it before them.

"Bicycling is the grandest and most health-

AUTO RUSH TO AID NIXON.

Machinist Going to Make Repairs Sped So Fast He Was Arrested.

Lewis Nixon's automobile broke down on Riverside Drive opposite Grant's Tomb last night. Mr. Nixon sent his secretary, who was with him, to an automobile shop at Forty-first street and Broadway for a machinist to repair the damage. Harry Scharer, the machinist, jumped into an automobile and started lickity-split to Mr. Nixon's aid.

"I have the champion of 1903 now training at Manhattan Beach." It was "Big Jim" Richards, the manager of the cycle track by the seaside, who made the remark yesterday. Asked who it was, Richards replied that it was E. F. Root, the New England boy who came so near to beating out Hurley for the amateur championship last year and who turned professional to enter the six-day race of last year, in which he and his mate, Galvin, finished sixth. Root is riding wonderfully fast in training, Richards says, and he is confident that he will give Kramer a hard rub for the championship this senson.

The colony of men in training at Manhattan Beach includes, besides Root: Hurley, Dove, Walter Smith, Lake, Gus and Harry Welsing and Armbruster. Eddie Baid, Floyd McFarland and Iver Lawson are expected to join the colony in a few days. According to Richards, Armbruster is another man who shows wonderfully improved form and promises to be dangerous in the struggle for the championship.

Fred W. Ladd of Salem, N. Everything is in readiness for the annual spring century run of the Century Road Club Association on next Sunday. An unusually large number of entries has been received. The race home of the fast division, with its prize of a gold watch to the first man across the line, stop watch to the second finishing, and a French knit sweater to the third man, bids fair to rival the fast division race of the Veterans' run of 1902, which had over one hundred starters. The following will be pacemakers: D. M. Adee, John Castles, T. J. Moore, Paul Thomas, R. A. Van Dyke and D. H. Lodge, and with assistants will have charge of the various divisions. Capt. C. P. THIEVES RETURN FOR PLUNDER.

Negroes Who Shot Miss Obert Revisit Her Home-Rob Old Couple Afterward.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., May 13.-The two egroes who shot and robbed Miss Sarah J. Obert near Middlebush two weeks ago, are again terrorizing the people of Franklin township. Miss Obert's home was visited again by the negroes. The house is unoccupied, because Miss Obert, who was shot through the body, is still suffering from her wound in the home of a friend. The thieves also visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Huff, an aged couple, four miles from the Obert residence, where they took $50 from a bureau drawer.

They attempted to force an entrance to the bedroom of the old peeple, but Mrs. Huff raised the window and screamed. Her cries brought two neighbors, who came up with the negroes as they were running from the house. A running fight of a quarter of a mile followed. The farmers shot repeatedly at the negroes, who returned the fire. No one was hit. The negroes crossed the Delaware and Raritan Canal near Weston and escaped.

THE RELIANCE COMING WEST. Mr. Iselin Satisfied That She Is Ready to

Meet Rivals. NEWPORT, May 13.—The yacht Reliance arrived at Newport late this afternoon, stopping here on her way to New Rochelle, off which place her tuning-up trials will be continued. When the yacht went to Bristol it was Mr. Iselin's intention to have her remain at Newport for several days. Mr. Iselin has changed his plans and unless something unforeseen happens the Reliance will start

Mr. Iselin is satisfied now that the new andidate for Cup defender honors is in the pink of condition and that it would be a waste f time to keep her near Bristol when the Columbia and Constitution are to the westward, tuning up in the waters in which they are first to meet. The Reliance left Bristol shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon. The morning was spent in getting things in readiness for leaving Bristol. The big mainsail was hoisted and the head sails were sent up in stops. After luncheon Nat Herreshoff and Mr. Iselin went on board the speed launch Sunbeam, in which they intended to follow the yacht down the bay, to make a critical observation of the new racer. Capt. new racer. Capt. Woodbury Kane and Dr. Monahan boarded the Reliance, and shortly after 1 she started out of Bristol harbor, followed by her tender.

The wind was light up the bay from the southwest, but when the Reliance got clear of Hogg Island she got a good slant. She carried a No. 1 club topsail and baby jib topsail set over lower sails. Several short tacks brought her down to Dyer's Island, which point she reached at 2:30.

In the lower bay the wind was true and strong, blowing at a force of about twelve knots, and it carried the yacht through the water at a good eleven knot clip. She heeled well over, and although making no disturbance forward rolled the sea up well under her lee bow in a victous manner. She footed very fast.

At Half Way Rock the Reliance went about on the starboard tack and stood well in toward the Middletown station, when she again tacked and headed in a long leg down the bay. When off Gould Island Capt. Barr shot the Reliance up into the wind, the Sunbeam came alongside, and Mr. Iselin boarded the yacht. Nat Herreshoff then returned to Reistol

Bristol.

A short hitch was then made over to the Newport shore when she came about and for fifteen minutes she held on the port tack until well in off the Jamestown shore at Taylor's Point. There was more force to the wind here and the jib topsail was doused. When abreast of Fort Wetherell Capt. Barr wore ship, the boom was eased off to port, the skysail run down, and under this reduced sail she went to her moorings back of the torpedo station, which she picked up at 3:39.

The sails of the Reliance set beautifully to-day. The boat is now completely finished, and with her departure it is evident that Mr. Iselin is satisfied that she is ready to meeet her rivals. He expresses himself as well pleased with the way the boat has shown up the last two days and that with the changes made at Bristol she is in better form than before.

The Reliance will stop at New London for a day and then proceed to City Island, where on Saturday she will be hauled out to have her bottom cleaned preparatory to the coming races. Mr. Iselin said to-night that the Reliance would start for New London early in the morning. He will leave the yacht at New London and go to his home at New Rochelle, not going to City Island with her.

The official trial trip of the high speed team yacht Levanter, built by the Gas Engine and Power Company, and Charles L. "Out of fashion! Who put it out? It's a standard thing now—not the novelty that attracts for a fleeting season. Were Prince Henry of Germany and his wife ruled out of fashion, the other day, when they were riding two new American-made chainless bicycles in one of the Berlin public gardens and were held up for running their wheels on the sidewalk out of the mud? Was there ever so big an attendance at bicycle races as there has been in the six-day contest?

In reply to questions, Col. Pope said he proposed to do more work for good roads in heaceforth than he ever has done. All the brands of bicycles now being made will continue to be manufactured, but the different factories will be managed on a competitive will, he said, have a racing team on the circuit this year and encourage the sport in other ways.

He would not go into any particulars except to say that Coffin was out of the boat for good. This action on the part of the crew management was the chief topic discussed among Yale men to-night. Without doubt his action in absenting himself from college for over two weeks was considered sufficient ground for Capt. Waterman's action. Coffin gave no excuse for his prolonged absence. His return to college is doubtful, as he is said to have preferred to drop for a year rather than row under the present authorities. A statement was made that Coffin was not in harmony with the crew authorities and preferred to break training rather than continue on the crew. To many Yale men Mr. Coffin's action shows a lack of the Yale spirit.

C. S. Titus, the champion oarsman, yeserday afternoon appeared before a comnittee of members of the Atalanta and Union boat clubs, each club being represented by boat clubs, each 'club being represented by three members. The meeting was held for the purpose of settling the controversy which has lasted for several months and which grew out of the charges of professionalism that were made against. Titus. At the close of the meeting President Kafka of the Atalanta club gave out this statement.

ATHLETIC MEET FALLS THROUGH Harvard Does Not Like Way International

Negotiations Were Carried On. NEW HAVEN, May 13 .- It was officially announced at Yale to-night that all negotiations for the meet between the athletes of athletes the coming summer are at an end responsibility for the falling through of the plans for the international meet. This is the explanation offered by the Yale officials: "For several weeks negotiations been carried on between Yale and Harvard and Oxford and Cambridge for an international track meet, to be held in London. On April 19 a challenge was received from the English universities for such a meet, to be held in London some time during the first two weeks of July. The matter was immediately put into the hands of the Yale track management and the Harvard athletic commanagement and the Harvard athletic committee, and everything seemed to point to the acceptance of the challenge. Yale was strongly in favor of sending a team abroad, and from all that could be learned there seemed to be little doubt that Harvard would join Yale.

Word, however, was received from the Harvard athletic committee that they had decided not to accept. The reason for this refusal is at present unknown and comes as a surprise to many.

CAMBEID GE, Mass., May 13.—Harvard, far from being opposed to an international track meet, as the action of her athletic authorities in the present instance would seem to in-from being opposed to an international track meet, as the action of her athletic authorities in the present instance would seem to indicate, is quite in favor of such an event under proper conditions. The Harvard authorities do not consider that Harvard has been challenged in that the proposal for a meeting did not originate with the athletic authorities of Oxford and Cambridge, and negotiations were not begun with the athletic authorities of Harvard and Yale. The negotiations were carried on by graduates and the universities interested were not put in the most desirable relation to each other. Another objection, but not the one that led Harvard to take the position she has, is that the negotiations were begun too late to permit Harvard to make the necessary arrangements for preparing and sending abroad a team of athletes.

Prof. Hollis, chairman of the Harvard athletic committee, this afternoon said there would probably be no serious objection to accepting a challenge for an athletic meet in the spring of 1904 in case the English univerties care to send one.

INTERSCHOLASTIC SPORTS. Sheffield and Other Cracks to Compete at New Haven.

A large number of the scholastic cracks of this city have entered the Yale interscholastic meet to be held at New Haven next Saturday afternoon. Sheffield, the interscholastic champion from Berkeley School, will compete in the 100 and 220-yard runs and the broad and high jumps and pole vault. Sheffield is booked for Yale, and his work will be watched with the keenest of interest by the university trainers. His time of 22 2-5 seconds for the 220-yard run last Saturday, after competing in the 100-yard dash, broad and high jumps, stamps him as a wonderful athlete. Another athlete of no mean ability who will compete at the games is H. Roome of Nathan Hale School. Roome also goes to Yale. Dwight School will not take part in the games this year, as the track team has entered the open games of the Trinity School Athletic Association to be held at Columbia Oval the same day.

The idea of having an intercity meet has been dropped, and from present indications there will be no meet arranged this year. watched with the keenest of interest by the Stevens Lacrosse Team Beats Hobart. The lacrosse game bet ween the Stevens Institute team and the Hobart College twelve on the St. George cricket grounds in Hoboken on the St. deorge cricket grounds in Hoboken yesterday afternoon resulted in an easy victory for the Stevens team. The defence and attack of the Stevens players were too much for the visitors, and at the end of the first half the score was 9 to 1 in favor of the Stevens team. The second half was close, both teams playing a fast game, and the score stood as it was in the first half.

JARROTT TO RACE IN FLORIDA. Noted English Chauffeur Agrees to Come

Over -Comments on Cup Race. In reply to a letter recently sent inviting him to take part in the races on the Florida beach next winter, Charles Jarrott, the English automobilist, who will drive a car in the international cup race, has sent to W. S. Morgan of this city a letter, the following excerpts from which are interesting: "If you are arranging to make the Florida Ormond-Daytona winter meet an annual fixture, and it is an important meeting, you can inform the Florida East Coast Automobile Association that I will run over specially in February next to compete, although at the moment I cannot say what make of machine I will use in the races.

"In all probability it will be a new Napier which will have an enormous horse power, and will be built especially for speed work. Or again it may be that I will use a special light racing De Dietrich car, in which I am interested, and which may be more suitable on a sand course. As to that I will be guided largely es to what you may recommend.

"While I thank you for your good opinion of me in respect to the cup races. I would point out that the chances and risks which have to be run in connection with a motor race are so many that it is difficult to pick out any particular man, however good the machine may be that he is driving, and state definitely that that man will win.

"That the race will be a hard one I do not think there will be any question, as the course is not an easy one, and, as the race will be continuous right through without a break, it will be a big physical strain for the drivers to keep fresh and hold their nerve right through the race.

"In the elimination trials held on Saturday, the Napier car beat the Star car, so that England will be represented in the race by three Napier cars, and they win be driven by Edge, Stocks and myself. You will remember Stocks as the ex-champion cyclist." De Dietrich car, in which I am interested Wridgway at the Empire City track on Memorial Day, has arranged to come to New York a week before the day of the match in order to show local enthusiasts the seventy horse power machine with which the seventy norse power machine with which he has supplied new track records. Oldfield has never appeared on an Eastern track and there is curiosity to see the man and the machine that managed to negotiate a wile track in a minute and 14-5 seconds, and five miles in 5 minutes 28 seconds.
